

BROOKLYN EAGLE

Volume 11, No. 17, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9, 2010

Two Sections

Founded in 1841 by Isaac Van Anden 50

UP & COMING

Born and raised in Brooklyn, Randy Weston is considered the leading light of Jazz coming out of the borough right now, even at the age of 84. Weston and his trio will perform at Brooklyn Museum, with special guests as part of Brooklyn Arts Council's Black Brooklyn Renaissance Intergenerations series. See listing under Music.

Art

BROOKLYN ARTS COUNCIL (BAC) GALLERY: 111 Front St., Suite 218, DUMBO. www.brooklynartscouncil.org. "Otto Neals & Emmett Wigglesworth: Kindred Spirits Forging Forward." Through Jan. 14. Selected works on paper and canvas, and sculpture spanning the 50-year careers of two iconic Brooklyn artists.

Music

BROOKLYN MUSEUM: Cantor Auditorium, 200 Eastern Parkway. (718) 638-5000 or www.brooklynmuseum.org.

Intergenerations: Randy Weston Trio with Special Guest Ayanda Clarke. Dec. 12, at 3 p.m. Presented by Brooklyn Arts Council. The concert features Brooklyn's legendary jazz pianist Randy Weston with his trio mates Alex Blake (string bass) and Neil Clarke (African percussion), with guest artists T.K. Blue (soprano sax), Billy Harper (tenor sax) and narrator Kim Weston Moran and Ayanda Clarke (percussion).

